Forsyth Viaduct Open to Traffic Again Tomorrow

Repairs Just Completed Cost the City $12,000—Steel Girders Replaced.

Forsyth street viaduct will be reopened Wednesday morning after having undergone extensive repairs for the first time since its erection thirty years ago.

It is the first bridge ever built in Atlanta with a floor more durable than wood. The material was an engineering experiment in a "permanent" flooring, consisting of a concrete cushion 13 inches thick, laid over with flat brick, which in turn were capped with a layer of vitrified brick tied down with tar. Minor repairs on the bridge are all that have ever been necessary up to the present time.

The pavement that has been re-laid is also an experiment. It is an asphaltic concrete base, with an asphalt top. The asphaltic concrete base is an innovation, and the city construction chief and his engineers will watch its wearing qualities.

One of its desirable features is that it seasons much quicker than concrete.

Forsyth street viaduct was built in 1891, during the administration of Mayor W. A. Hemphill. C. E. Kauffman, present city engineer, will watch its wearing qualities.

Grant Wilkins was the contractor. The Phoenix Bridge company erected the steel frame and the stone foundation and abutments were constructed by Will R. Maher, J. D. Turner was foreman on the job.

Members of the bridge committee that supervised the structure were Mayor Hemphill, Francis Rice, A. J. McBride and J. M. Stephens.

The original cost of the viaduct was $121,448.33. In its construction were used 2,187,923 pounds of steel; 2,000 cubic yards of stone, for the foundation; 700 cubic yards of sand; 140,000 vitrified bricks; 120,000

Advertising Club News Pays Tribute To Atlanta Papers

The Advertising Club News, official organ of the New York Advertising club, comes forth in its July issue with the following tribute to the newspapers of Atlanta, in appreciation of their service during the recent convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World:

"We went, we saw—and we conquered, yes, but only because we were aided and abetted by the finest bunch of newspaper men we ever met."

From reporters, city editors, managing editors, publishers, we got a tidal wave of helpful co-operation that made our jobs the easiest any publicity agents ever tackled.

Did we find? Boys, we landed from the standpoint of odds of not only space, but we were made to feel that we were as welcome as if we were laying down a full page of ads in their papers every time we went around to the newspaper offices.

What do you want? Editorials, cartoons, front pages. Name it. It's yours. And every one of the newspaper men meant just what he said. All we had to do was sit down in front of a couple of typewriters and say it in words.

We want our club members to know these things. We want them to realize how our club stood in Atlanta with the great newspapers of the south. We want them to be able to appreciate, along with those "went south," just how much the four-state did for us. And the R-I-C, and the M. E. who met these men with the right here that "co-operation" means a lot more to them today than it did before Peachtree street became something more than a name.

You know the great newspapers of Atlanta. The Constitution, The Georgian, The Journal. You ought to know them better. They are named by men who go to the limit for you when they think you are right.

Atlanta newspaper men, we hope you all are feeling fine this glorious Fourth! Thank you, sir, for showing us how to co-operate away down in Georgia.

Dedication of Camp Victor.

An event of great interest to many Atlantans will be the dedication of Camp Victor on July 17. This is the summer camp of the Young Men's Hebrew association. An appropriate program has been arranged. Camp Victor covers five acres of beautiful woodland through which Peachtree creek flows. This is the generous gift of Mr. Victor H. Kreighbaum and was named Camp Victor by the members as a tribute to the donor.

Unlike most camps, Camp Victor is not a tent city, but has a spacious wooden structure with screened porches for sleeping and lounging; electric lights, running water, shower baths, and a big hall for dining, with a big open fireplace for cool or rainy days. This hall is to be used for dancing and has piano and victrola.

The library has several hundred very desirable volumes given by Miss Annie F. Wise, Miss Daisy Jacobs, Miss Mary Tenenbaum and Mrs. Nathaniel Siegel.

The Emanuel Adler Athletic field was donated by the Adler Bros. in memory of the late Emanuel Adler, who was a staunch friend of the association. This field is equipped with tennis court, basketball court and croquet set complete.

The creek, a beautiful swift-running stream, is wonderful for fishing, and some interested friends have promised a swimming pool in the near future.

Miss Mary E. Mitchell is director of Camp Victor.

The Victor Flyer bus meets the Piedmont avenue car on schedule by registration. Camp Victor is located on Cheshire road, six miles from Five Points, and can be reached by motoring out, Piedmont avenue to Cheshire road. The camp is now prepared to accommodate 50 members.

Beauvais Letters Put in Evidence At Stillman Trial

"I Am All Yours," Wrote Indian Guide to Mrs. Stillman.

Pensacola, Fla., July 11.—Two more charged in the murder of John M. Uggie, of Chipley, Fla., near Deerland, in Okaloosa county, Florida, July 4, have been arrested at Bainbridge, Ga., according to information received here. The men who gave their names as Joe Martin, of Brunswick, Ga., and Jim Lingo, of Camden county, Ga., are alleged to have confessed to Sheriff Martin, of Bainbridge.

Charged with stealing a shirt, Martin was arrested at Bainbridge. When he was brought into the sheriff's office, that official for his own protection, the Tuggle murderers which he had just received from Sheriff Johnson, of Washington, D. The prisoner then is said to have told the details of the killing and informed the sheriff where he could find Lingo. Lingo was arrested and he also confessed, according to the sheriff.

After saying Tuggle, according to the alleged confession, the men went to Mossyhead, a few miles from the scene of the killing, and caught an eastbound train, leaving Steen of the railroad, and a railroad junction point, there.

THE ONLY SURE WAY.
Washington dispatches during the past few days indicate that the War Finance corporation, through co-operation with financial institutions operating under the Edge and Pomerene acts, is now prepared to finance the exportation of all of the 1920-21 carryover cotton that can be sold abroad. It will go further and finance the warehousing of cotton at the European spindle centers for future delivery.

This is encouraging and stresses the importance of this government agency in helping the producing interests of the country to get back to a pre-war overseas trading basis, provided the foreign countries could trade with the United States on a treaty basis of amity and commerce.

This cannot be done, however, in its fullest measure, nor with any satisfactory financial standard, until the United States has concluded a peace treaty with its enemies during the late war, and their nationals. This can best and more quickly be done through the treaty of Versailles; and it is absurd to assume otherwise.

While the "bitter ends" in the senate are clamoring for a separate treaty with Germany, in order to camouflage their followers by an apparent fight to the finish, there is not one of them who does not know that such a course is impracticable without the consent of the allies, and such a consent would necessarily bring the negotiations right to the door of the Versailles treaty, to which all of the allied powers in the war are signatories except the United States.

This fact stands out with the boldness of a pot leg. Germany is not free to negotiate any sort of a treaty of amity, commerce or anything else.

Germany is a bankrupt in the hands of trustees, and the allies are the trustees. She is, to all intents and purposes, mortgaged to the allies, and she is in neither a legal nor a moral position to deal with the United States except through the allies.

The latter have the veto and regulatory power over Germany in any negotiations that she and the United States might enter into looking to a treaty. Any intelligent high school boy can comprehend that.

The "bitter ends," or "irreconcilables," as they prefer to call themselves, can argue that the United States holds the whip hand because the allied nations are all heavily in debt to the United States, and hence they could not afford to be unreasonable in their guardianship over Germany.

As a cold-blooded calculation that is true in a measure, but it increases to a like extent the necessity for financial prudence, for the allies are bound together by the Versailles treaty, and any offense or infraction of a moral duty to one is a like offense to all.

If the United States forces the issue and treats with Germany, even by any temporarily forced sanction of the allies, in a way that will impair the arrangements which the allies have already concluded with Germany, affecting tariffs and prior rights over Germany's resources, the ultimate consequences will not be to our advantage.

In dealing with bankrupts, or the mortgagors in dealing with mortgagors.

When the treaty of Versailles, with whatever reservations the republicans may desire, is ratified, therefore, and a real and not a fictitious peace has been established, then, and only then, can the War Finance corporation, in its admirable work for the producers, function on a wholly satisfactory basis for the farmers.

It is an advanced step to finance the exportations of American products, to be sure; but it can bring little permanent relief to the producing interests so long as the foreign markets cannot absorb those products at prices that will admit of a fair margin of profits.

As it is every shipment of cotton to Europe today only accentuates the losses the cotton growers of Georgia and the south are forced to accept by reason of the fact that the United States is not a party to the existing post-war treaty, and is correspondingly without any kind of a commercial agreement with the central powers. It is sad to relate.

In this connection the War Finance corporation cannot be too liberally praised for doing all in its power, as prescribed by law, in making the best of a bad situation.

There has been considerable confusion in the lay mind as to what is meant by the Edge and Pomerene acts, through co-operation with which the War Finance corporation is enabled to so successfully function.

Both acts are comparatively new, being of the 65th and 66th congress. The Edge law permits the organization of banks to deal exclusively with foreign business, and the Pomerene law permits concerns to combine for foreign trading without becoming violators of the anti-trust acts.

A coordination between a substantially organized Edge bank, a Pomerene export combination, and the War Finance corporation, therefore, can make foreign trading comparatively easy, could the foreign markets absorb at satisfactory prices.

This can only be done, so far as the United States is concerned, when its signature has been placed, as it should have been long ago, to the treaty of Versailles.

ON THE RIGHT LINE.
There will be general approval of the action of President Harding in opening diplomatic exchanges which are expected to lead to an international conference to discuss limitations of armament and a solution of the delicate problems in the Far East.

Such a move has been anticipated, and is in keeping with the administration's desire—now that political expediency has been served—to get back to the Versailles treaty and to an amity agreement between nations.

The one unfortunate feature is the great delay, entirely unnecessary except to serve politics, that has occurred in this step that every thinking man knew had to be taken sooner or later.

By reason of the delay and the seeming indifference on the part of the United States, the other nations—with the western hemisphere grinning a defiance like an angry bull dog—have gone ahead with armament programs far in excess of their pre-war programs.

France has equipped and has in action an army equal to her world-war land forces; Italy has reacted on her earlier disarmament ideals; England is restoring her proverbial sea force supremacy; Japan is second, with the greatest cruising armada afloat; the mysterious and always threatening Anglo-Japanese alliance is about to be renewed and strengthened; Great Britain has even now reached out into China—and necessarily the United States has been forced to inaugurate a comprehensive naval program in keeping with her unsettled and apparent, if not in fact, unfriendly, or at least selfish, attitude toward the other nations of the world.

The result is that the ideals for which the great war was fought and won have not matured; and the commerce of the world is disturbed; and the finances of the producing nations of the world, as is the United States, gloomily depressed because the nations, already broke from the strain of war, must keep themselves broke in order to maintain heavy armaments, with the clouds of some kind of war always darkening their horizons.

That's the situation in a nutshell; and while the conference suggested by President Harding comes late, and can only be useful when this government has joined her allies on a basis of amity, and when the vagueness of the new British-Japanese alliance has been cleared up, it is hoped that some forceful and speedy understanding may result from such a conference that this nation may be able to extricate herself, physically, commercially and morally, from a menacing, if not alarming, position that she has fallen into by reason of her selfishness and obstinacy.

Crossing Accidents On the Increase In Spite of Warnings
Editor Constitution: I endorse everything you say in your admirable editorial Wednesday, entitled "Victims of Haste," and heartily wish people who drive automobiles over railroad crossings would heed your admonition.

The railroads are gradually reducing the danger of crossings in co-operation with city and county authorities, by changes in roads and streets, and where practicable, by separating grades, but this is an enormously expensive work. What we only progress slowly. What we need is a clearer realization of the danger at these crossings, and the exercise of caution on the part of the drivers of motor cars and trucks.

In spite of every sort of warning, accidents of this kind seem to be on the increase. I hope your lead is only the beginning of a newspaper campaign throughout the state against this increasing hazard.

Your article stresses the sentimental side of these tragedies, and that, of course, is what appeals to us in a personal sort of way, but there is a material element that the public at large ought not to overlook. The damage to property and personal injury that results from these needless accidents are largely borne by the railroads. These charges become a part of the operating expenses of the railroads, and the cost falls ultimately upon the people in the way of higher rates of transportation.

Everybody ought to take the matter to heart, and talk and work for safer, safer practices.

Editor Constitution: That was a well-timed article on an all important subject in Sunday's Constitution by H. W. Quinn, 423 Ormond street, taking issue with those who propose to saddle more taxes on the people of Atlanta. I have been reading and wondering if anybody would not come to the front in the interest of the tax-ridden people of Atlanta, and oppose this move on the part of blind and mistaken office holders, who are utterly oblivious to the condition of the numbingly poor owners of this city. Will this increase in taxes never cease?

Do these office holders imagine the people are made out of money? They are like the horse leech and the grave-digger crying, "Give, give," with no care for nor interest in those who must do the giving. There should be some limit to this tax business, but it seems the municipal authorities do not seem to see it nor do they seem to care.

Do not forget, I pray you, when you talk of increasing the tax rate, that the burden will not fall heavily on the owners of skyscrapers and the large property owners, but on the thousands of poor people who own no house, and who are perplexed to know how to pay the taxes. But who cares for these wretched souls?

Just now and for months the cry has gone up from all over the United States for a decrease in taxes, and congress is now wrestling with that problem. The people want relief. But Atlanta, instead of contenting herself with even present high taxes, must go one or two better, and raise the taxes and put additional financial burdens on her poor people.

Oh, for some leader to rise up and come to the relief of these burdened men and women, many of them widows, and not a few of them out of a job! Is there no one who has a heart in him who will gladly respond and take up the case of these wretched souls who are starving?

Don't tell me the city's income is not sufficient to make ends meet. Do not ask me how the financial problem is to be solved. If I am required to give an answer, one is already at hand. Let the city of Atlanta do just like thousands of her citizens are compelled to do—live inside of their income. Let the money-spenders of the municipal government cut out some of the fat from their budgets. That is where the beginning should be made, and then, a year or so ago, when the same cry of the city's financial straits was made, that salaries of certain city employees were raised. And at the same time we were told the city's

It Was Fifty Years Ago, My Lads

Resurrected From the July 12, 1871, Issue of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION
BY FUZZY WOODRUFF

When it came to a real dizzy time, one of those occasions when a person feared to go to sleep because he might miss something and wanted to be at about six different places at the same time, I imagined from reading the files of The Constitution of July, 1871, that commencement at the University of Georgia of that date furnished about the most golden opportunity for rip-roaring for a week that this era afforded.

There can't be much doubt about the ancient aphorism to the effect that by nature doesn't change with periods in history and there can't be much more doubt about the fact that alumni returning to the scenes of their boyhood triumphs are boys again.

Anyhow, the alumni of the University of Georgia returned to Athens for commencement of 1871 and they had to walk or ride horseback or be drawn in surreys or accommodations trains or wheelbarrows to the scene of the festivities. There was no leaping on a limited or boarding the Rolls-Royce and jolting and away for the dear old mater then.

But there were there en masse for the sterling reporter of The Constitution records:

High Old Time Listening to Speeches.
I searched and I searched faithfully and I came to the conclusion that in the good year of 1871 whenever anybody went out for a high old time, he adjusted an ear trumpet and sat in a hall and listened to somebody else make a few of his own.

In addition to the speeches above mentioned, I found records to the effect that during that glorious commencement, the enraptured alumni listened to Dr. B. M. Palmer, of New Orleans, preach on the text: "But he said, I am not mad, most noble Festus, but speak forth the words of truth and soberness," which must have been real interesting; and Ben Hill deplored the fact that no progress much had been made in government; and Governor Jenkins trace the history of the achievements of the board of trustees; and a lot of mixed speeches by Lipscomb, Hon. Hope Hull, Hon. Iveson L. Harris, Hon. James Jackson, Col. A. O. Bacon, Dr. H. V. M. Miller, and Mr. W. W. Thomas, but when he came to the hop of the Wiff Hiss the annual barn burning of old '58, the reporter was asleep on the job.

Formidable Battery Of Big Guns.
"An immense crowd are now thronging the streets of Athens; a large number of alumni are arriving and the address to them will be delivered today by the Hon. B. H. Hill and their banquet commenced tonight. Mr. Edgar Simmons, of Macon, the Demosthenian society orator, delivers an address to-night. Tomorrow Hon. B. A. Thornton, of Columbus, delivers the address before the literary societies. Rev. Dr. W. W. Hicks, of Macon, delivered a night sermon before the Young Men's Christian association to a large audience. Among some of the distinguished arrivals in town may be mentioned Hon. C. J. Jenkins, Dr. N. M. Crawford, Hon. Martin J. Crawford, Hon. James Jackson, Dr. H. Hill, J. B. Brown, H. V. M. Miller, Dr. W. W. Hicks, Dr. Bledsoe, of Baltimore; R. P. Trippe, J. L. Seward, Mark A. Cooper, Dr. E. H. Myers, Colonel Pottle, Judge D. A. Vason, Samuel Hill and others."

Now that sounded like as formidable battery of big guns as ever assembled about the double-barreled cannon, but I began to search for the boys who respond to the commands of a cheer leader and the alumni of the snappy class of 1850 who would do a Maypole dance in Chinese costume, and a list of the belles who would toddle or dance the minuet or do whatever was done along Terschichorean lines to make commencement worth while, or who got football letters and all such information that goes to make college life the bright particular spot in a man's mundane existence.

Twenty-Eight Toasts With Real Wine.
The Phi Kappa did have an evening of entertainment, and had a howling time when W. T. Armistead chose "Mystery" as his theme, "which was well treated and delivered in an animated style, Mr. A's manner being fervid."

And when the boys were given their sheepskins here are some of the things that made the occasion merry: Salutatory in Latin, P. K. Yonge, Pensacola, and orations in English by R. L. Brooks, of South Carolina; R. L. Gamble, Augusta; G. R. Glenn, Dawson; J. L. Hand, Americus; R. W. H. Neal, Thomson; E. Newton, Union Point; H. E. Ware, Athens; C. W. Warren, Augusta; E. H. Briggs, Columbus, and A. A. Murphy, of Monroe county, the first honor man.

The commencement closed that night with an alumni banquet with the information that the table was loaded with the choicest viands and wines, and a list of 28 toasts to be drunk standing and if the alumni drank all of them some of them were speechless before the evening ended.

Tucked away in one corner of the paper, I discovered "a number of Atlanta belles are attending commencement at Athens," but I guess the reporter took it for granted that the public knew they did nothing but attend to speeches.

But the funny part about the whole thing was that this commencement began July 30 and I'm wondering yet how they kept the boys in school that long. They didn't on speeches.

Wishing the Patients Unhappy Days. That cheerless disposition which goes with sagging or displacement of abdominal organs, and which we have glorified here under the name of flatulency, is too frequently aggravated by bad news from the doctor or the X-ray mechanician. Thus many a woman has been launched upon a sea of trouble by the bad news that her right kidney was loosened from its moorings and wandering about the abdomen, whereas had the doctor kept his discovery to himself the poor woman might have been quite contented and happy—or at least fairly happy, for I suppose no woman can be quite contented this side of heaven.

Likewise with prolapsed stomach, poised liver, sagging colon and all the rest of the scrambled contents—do not quite fail to mention the discovery of such loose organs to the patient except when this information is necessary for the purpose of obtaining co-operation by the patient in the carrying out of remedial measures, such as the use of mechanical support of surgical interference.

X-ray pictures have proved that most adults have more or less sagging of stomach or bowel, at least when the positions of the abdominal organs are compared with our old-fashioned mechanical patient. It follows, therefore, that a diagnosis of such conditions is necessary for the purpose of obtaining co-operation by the patient in the carrying out of remedial measures, such as the use of mechanical support of surgical interference.

GREAT HOME BUILDER

WILL VISIT ATLANTA

The wave of home-building interest which has been sweeping Atlanta for some time past, in the opinion of prominent local realtors, will be increased by the visit here next week of W. E. Minter, of Huntington, W. Va., president of the Minter Homes corporation, of Huntington, W. Va., and of the Minter Homes company, of Greenfield, N. C.

Mr. Minter comes here as the guest of James L. Logan, local realtor, and during his stay here will address groups of bankers and citizens generally on the advisability of home-owning among all classes. Mr. Minter is the originator of the famous Minter plan of homebuilding, and will also detail that system to the people he meets during his stay in the city. The two corporations of which he is the head are capitalized at $2,000,000.

Mr. Minter's plan provides for the payment for the home in 16-23 years, or in 200 monthly payments, with simple interest at 1 per cent, and is worked out on a basis whereby insurance for the home protects the man in process of home-purchasing.

Accompanying Mr. Minter will be P. M. Burnett, financial executive of the Minter interests, and Mr. Burnett will also confer with local financiers on the expansion of their business in the city. Since the firm is the largest home-building concern in the world, according to reports.

Sale of Worthless Vaccine to Georgia Farmers Is Charged Charge Is Made by State College and by Federal Experts.

That Georgia farmers have been sold a worthless vaccine for the purpose of increasing the nitrates and soluble phosphates in the soil, is the charge of the Georgia State College of Agriculture and the United States department of agriculture, which is the result of an investigation of the vaccine requested by the agricultural committee of the Macon chamber of commerce.

This was in effect, the contents of a special bulletin received Monday by the Macon committee from the state college, and forwarded to Atlanta. The Macon committee had received inquiries concerning the vaccine, and had asked the state college to make an analysis and a thorough investigation according to news received in Atlanta.

This charge is of especial interest at this time, owing to the resolution of Senator L. C. Brown calling for an investigation of the department of agriculture. Efforts were made Monday night to secure a statement from Commissioner of Agriculture, J. B. Brown, but he could not be reached.

Senator Brown's resolution, which was thrown out on account of technicalities Monday, will be brought up again in the senate Tuesday morning. It is expected that it will be made to have its report.

DISPLACED RAIL CAUSES TROLLEY TO LEAVE TRACKS

BIG REALTY FIRM

IN NEW QUARTERS

The L. W. Rogers Realty and Trust company Monday moved into permanent headquarters at 5 Marietta street. This corporation, organized with a capital stock of $350,000 and acting as a holding company for all real estate of the Rogers' chain of stores, has as its general manager and treasurer, Ben Padgett, well-known Atlanta realtor, who is also secretary of the Atlanta Real Estate Board.

Mr. Padgett announced Monday that the company had recently bought several hundred pieces of property from the Rogers' company at a total purchase price of $330,000. The largest item entering into this transaction was the warehouse and general offices of the Rogers company, which had been leased by the company at a price of $300,000 from Harold Rogers.

Announcement was made that the company, besides handling all purchases, leasing, renting and ownership of stores and real estate of the Rogers' organization, will in addition do a general real estate business. As soon as the nature of the business is clear, it is later planned to conduct a general trust business in addition to that of the Rogers' concern.

Ben Padgett's stores have been taken over already by the company. Buildings for three new Rogers' stores have been leased by the company and several other realty deals have been handled.

FINDS ALTRUISM AND CORN DO NOT GO WELL TOGETHER
With altruism in his heart and a quart of corn liquor in his hip pocket, George W. Barwell, negro, went to the wrong place Monday night to get a drink at the police station and generously offered to furnish collateral for Louise Jackson, his car behind bars for some minor offense.

While reaching in his pocket for the necessary amount to set his "lady friend" free, Detective Cody, idly standing by, saw something which he mistook for a bribe, and something gleaming in a rear pocket.

Barwell went free, all right, but the altruistic George went back to a cell and in spite of any one who would furnish him bond and running out the fact that corn liquor is all right in place, but not around police stations.

Has Narrow Escape When Front Axle Of Machine Breaks
Narrowly missing an automobile accident which might have had fatal consequences, Ben Padgett, Atlanta real estate man, managed to keep control of his car after the front axle had snapped on a steep hill near Cornelia.

Mr. Padgett carried his family to Clayton and was on his way home Sunday afternoon. With him were two companions from Clayton. The speed of the car carried it down a deep ditch, and the efforts of the driver to stop it. Before being checked it had crossed a bridge over a deep gully, and the wheels grazing the edge of the roadway and the broken axle dragging. It was stopped soon after crossing the bridge. None of the occupants were injured, but the car was badly damaged.

CLODFELTER ARRESTED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING
Elmer Clodfelter, of 19 West Peachtree street, was arrested Monday night on a charge of reckless driving, after it is claimed, his car had struck Frances Tedet, 12-year-old white girl, of 227 South Pryor street, late in the afternoon. The girl was badly hurt and received treatment at Noble's sanitarium. Clodfelter was later released on bond.

Two American Cruisers
Reappear Off Mexico
Port After Twenty-four Hours' Absence.

Mexico City, July 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—United States warships, which on Friday were reported to have been withdrawn from Tampico, returned to that port yesterday afternoon. Dispatches reaching Mexico City last night said the American and Cleveland again were anchored at the mouth of the Panuco river and, although no explanation was given for their return, it was presumed the vessels withdrew to the high seas "for twenty-four hours, in order to avoid the technicalities of international law and then returned to Tampico. When they first arrived off the Panuco river last week it was said their mission was to "protect North American interests." It is considered not improbable the vessels will continue this maneuver until the situation clears.

Reports from Tampico state that the situation remains quiet, and that no disturbances have taken place. General Arnulfo Gomez, commander of federal troops in that district, arrived there Saturday

CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK, UGH!

"Dodson's Liver Tone" better than calomel and can not salivate.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is! It's mercury, quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. The number of men out of work was greatly overestimated, he declared, but he gave no definite figures.

Taft Sworn In As Chief Justice Of U. S. Monday

Washington, July 11.—William Justice Hoehling, of the District supreme court, in the absence from the city of the justices of the supreme court. Those present included Mr. Taft's brother, Henry W. Taft, of New York, and John T. Adams, chairman of the republican national committee.

Before the oath was administered, Attorney-General Daugherty presented Mr. Taft with his commission as chief justice, saying: "I now hand you on behalf of the president your commission as chief justice of the United States. It affords me great pleasure on account of our personal relations, but far above that, feel a security to the country, its constitution, its laws and its people in your installation in that high court."

Immediately after taking the oath, Chief Justice Taft went to the white house to pay his respects to President Harding.

The new chief justice and Mr. Daugherty were guests tonight of President Harding at dinner at the white house. During the afternoon, Justice Taft visited the capitol, where he met with Chairman Nelson, of the senate judiciary committee, and others.

Mrs. Kaber Will Deny She Caused Husband's Death

Cleveland, July 11.—Eva Catherine Kaber will begin her defense tomorrow morning, against the state's charge that she planned the murder of her husband, Dan F. Kaber, Lakewood publisher.

The state today completed the case with the exception of one witness, former P. J. Jacobs, who will testify that Mr. Kaber died as a result of the stab wounds, alleged by the state to have been inflicted by assassins hired by Mrs. Kaber. Dr. Jacobs was a fishing trip in Canada and will not arrive before the middle of the week.

As a result of Judge Maurice Beron's ruling today the jury can find Mrs. Kaber guilty of killing her husband by poisoning. This count in the indictment was withdrawn from the jury by the court at conclusion of the state's testimony. If she is convicted it must be on the charge that she conspired to murder her husband by poisoning, the second count in the indictment. Testimony relating to alleged poisoning, however, may be considered by the jury in its deliberation.

Judge Beron overruled a motion by Mrs. Kaber's counsel to have this testimony withdrawn from the jury and also a motion to free Mrs. Kaber on the state's conspiracy charge. Judge Beron held that the testimony relating to poisoning tended to support the state's charge of conspiracy and premeditation.

Mrs. Kaber Will Testify.

Mrs. Kaber's counsel have given no indication what will be the first witness they will offer in defense. Though they assert that Mrs. Kaber will take the witness stand in her defense, they have not intimated when she will be called.

It is expected, however, that much of the defense testimony will be given by medical experts relative to Mrs. Kaber's mental condition.

At the opening of the trial, her counsel stated that insanity will comprise part of the defense. County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton today made public a statement, alleged to have been made by Marion McArdle, daughter of Mrs. Kaber, to police officials in New York after her arrest there. The alleged statement was not offered in evidence. Miss McArdle is indicted for first degree murder in connection with her stepfather's death.

Sweet 'Tater Syrup, Product of Georgia, Reaches Washington

Georgia Delegation Presented With Quart Apiece of
New Sweet Stuff.

BY CLARK HOWELL, JR.,
Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—As the result of experiments conducted by the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, a sweet potato syrup, from April 1, 1921, it is estimated that a new industry which will bring millions of dollars to the growers of sweet potatoes and the manufacturers of sweet potato syrup will be developed in Georgia.

As tangible evidence of the result of these experimental tests each member of the Georgia delegation was today presented with a quart bottle of the syrup by the Department of Agriculture.

During the period of the tests six hundred gallons of the syrup were made and this was distributed throughout the United States bakeries, biscuit manufacturers, candy makers and other large users for trial purposes.

While the official report of the Bureau of Chemistry has not yet been rendered, it is expected within a short time. It was ascertained that from one bushel of sweet potatoes one and six-tenths gallon of syrup can be made and that the by-product makes an excellent feed for hogs and cattle.

To Gather Data.

The experimental plant at Fitzgerald was erected to determine the cost of manufacture and evolve data on the most efficient machinery to make the syrup as well as to determine whether there is a sufficient market for the syrup to justify its manufacture in large quantities. The sweet potato syrup is about half as sweet as Georgia cane syrup but is sweeter than either glucose or corn syrup.

It was pointed out that the syrup can be made as well from off grades of potatoes which are now frequently fed to farm animals or thrown away, as from the higher grades which are now marketed.

The industrializing of the process of making the syrup is in the hands of the office of development work, an office created last year by the bureau of chemistry. No figures as to the actual cost of the manufacture of the syrup per gallon would be released at this time but it is expected that the detailed report soon to be issued will reveal whether or not it will be practical to manufacture syrup from potatoes in competition with other syrups now on the market.

Briefly the process of manufacture is to first wash the whole potato, cook, mash, add water and then the potato starch set free is converted into sugar by the action of a small percentage of malt. The mash is then pressed and the juice which is drawn off is evaporated and in this way the crude syrup is obtained. The crude syrup is then clarified and made crystal clear, the clarification being effected by pumping it through a filter press.

Recipes Ready.

In a general discussion of sweet potato syrup uses in the house hold, Minna C. Denton and Fanny Walker, Yeatman, of the experimental kitchen, office of home economics of the Department of Agriculture, pointed out that the syrup can be substituted for molasses in all other syrups in ordinary recipes, but only with certain modifications.

These experts have prepared a number of recipes for the use of the syrup.

In speaking of its use in the home, they made the following statement which indicates the variety of purposes for which it can be used:

"It is somewhat lacking in acid, and cannot be used without soda as the sole dependence for leavening. In a better of dough. Also its flavor is improved, for many if not for all purposes, by the addition of a small amount of acid (1 to 2 teaspoons vinegar to 1 cup of the syrup); but the acid is used instead of acid, where flavor is the only consideration.

In flour batters, such as cakes and ginger bread, when molasses would be used, a tendency to make in the crumb part product lacking in lightness. Even when a much larger proportion of flour than usual is added, this tendency is not altogether overcome. It is often necessary, then, to reduce the amount of syrup used in the batter, and to add acid to use more baking powder. That is to say, the treatment of sweet potato syrup in baking is intermediate between that which is appropriate for molasses and that appropriate for glucose and other syrups.

Delicious As Caramel.

The crust which forms on a ginger bread or molasses cake has a peculiar crispness which is an aspect of advantage in the making of gingersnaps and crisp cookies. This is, however, a distinct disadvantage because it conduces to soginess or crumb if the ginger bread is to be baked in a layer form. The cake should be quite thin, not more than half an inch deep in the pan.

"The syrup is especially delicious in any product where a caramel flavor is to be developed by browning, whether it be candy, pudding, custard, pie, icing for cake, sweet sauce, baked beans, or vegetable glaze.

"Needless to say it is highly acceptable as a table syrup. Most persons consulted liked the untreated syrup with pancakes, fritters, etc. But if you notice an objectionable 'sweet potato taste,' or if you desire a higher flavor, caramelize the syrup by cooking it for a few minutes at the boiling point in a smooth sauce pan over the direct flame, until it begins to stick to the pan and brown; then add enough hot water to bring the syrup to the desired consistency. Easier still, add caramel syrup (caramelized sugar in water) to the sweet potato syrup, to suit the taste."

"OVERTIME" PARKING KEEPS POLICE BUSY

"Overtime" parking cases have been working the police overtime, according to Officer C. A. Chaffin, who has a beat along Broad street, and has been busy making cases against automobile owners for violations of the parking regulations on that thoroughfare.

The trouble has resulted from the reconstruction work being done on the Forsyth street bridge, which has caused a reduction in the parking time from 30 minutes to 5 or 10 minutes. About a dozen persons were given copies of charges by Officer Chaffin Saturday, most of them for overtime parking, though a few were for non-parallel parking. In those cases tried before Recorder Johnson Monday morning, the recorder was rather lenient because, as he stated, he felt sure that few people knew of the changed regulations in regard to this particular street.

"WARLESS WORLD," SLOGAN OF WORKERS

Endeavor Society's Slogan in 1910 Was "A Saloonless
Nation by 1920."

New York, July 11.—Enthusiastic over their new slogan, "A Warless World by 1922," the 10,000 delegates to the world's Christian Endeavor convention held their final meeting Monday night. Most of them have already gone to their homes, but several hundred stayed to participate in an excursion to the Hudson river on Tuesday.

To possible critics of the practicability of the new watchword, Dr. Francis E. Clark, founder and president in perpetuity of the world organization, pointed out that a change in slogans had become necessary through the success of the one adopted in 1910, "A Saloonless Nation by 1920," which was then thought by many impossible of fulfillment. "We are most thankful that this final day has brought in the announcement of President Harding's invitation for a disarmament conference, an answer to our prayers," Dr. Clark said in closing the convention Monday night.

Russia will be the next country to be organized by the society, Dr. Clark declared. He said that the Greek Catholic church had expressed willingness to incorporate the endeavor movement into its activities.

MORE MONROE FARMS, CENSUS INDICATES

Juliette, Ga., July 11.—(Special.)—The agricultural census of Monroe, just given out by the census bureau, shows that in 1920 there were 2,955 farms in the county, as compared with 2,789 in 1910, an increase of 61 per cent. Of the total number of farms, 1,083 were operated by white farmers and 1,872 by colored farmers. There were 873 farms operated by owners and managers and 2,082 by tenants. The value of farm lands and buildings January 1, 1920 was $9,097,524. On April 15, 1910, the value was $4,316,784, an increase of $4,780,740, or 110.8 per cent.

YOUR HELPLESSNESS HURTS THE MOTHER AND BABY—

She is out of bed before the break of day.

She splits wood and draws water then fires the stove and gets breakfast for the farm.

Having milked and driven the cows to pasture, she feeds the chickens and draws more water (she lifts and carries a ton of water a day) then strains and puts the milk away.

After washing the dishes, sweeping the house, filling the lamps and making the beds, she gathers the eggs, churns, salts the butter and puts it away.

The churn cleaned, she goes to the fields a while, to return to cook more food and serve another meal. The dishes washed again, she makes, mends, washes and irons the clothes until time to see to the cows and calves again.

After another milking, she fixes supper. The dishes washed once more, she sews beneath the reeking lamp, until sodden with toil she goes to bed, to nurse through the night the last of her babies, whose fretful cries have added to the heartache of the day.

She must neglect her children.

Your Legislature Should Have The Power To Help This Woman

She is on our farms.

Her head bows, her shoulders bend, her back crooks and strains to produce great Georgia's agricultural wealth. When this wife and mother breaks and falls beneath her burdens, all Georgia suffers, as well as the woman's orphaned babies.

Your Constitution prevents your putting your water powers to helping her.

Our undeveloped water powers, equal to the labor of 25,834,200 men, thrown away annually unused, is enough to lift the load from every home and mother in Georgia.

For less than $1.00 a day, $350 a year, the Ontario farmer will get from the State electricity enough to do the work of 240 men on his farm. For less than 31 cents a day, $112 a year, he may get enough to do the work of 60 men.

Why light and power for the farm and home in Ontario while darkness and drudgery crushes the wives of farmers in Georgia?

Ontario's Constitution, like that of many States, enables her legislators to put her water powers to work.

Your Constitution makes it impossible for you to pass such laws, therefore we do not ask it.

We ask our Legislators only to let our people go to the polls and vote whether or not to amend the Constitution.

Chickasaws Walon Crackers By Great Eighth Inning Rally

Pierson Blows in Fifth, After Crackers Piled Up Three Runs in the First Frame.

BY HERBERT CALDWELL.
Memphis, Tenn., July 11.—Spencer Arthur Abbott, chief of the Chickasaw tribe, stood upon the third base coaching line and with perfect control curled a lariat around the horns of the mythical goat of Bill Pierson, a left-sided pitcher of the fifth inning and yanked in a 9 to 4 victory over the Crackers, as a result of a game full of tense and exciting moments ultimately proved.

Up till the time that the chief lassoed the goat of left-sided Bill, Pierson appeared to be the goat of the tribemen staked and tied tight. Left-sided Bill had turned back seven of the tribemen on the mound and it looked like he was going to turn back some more. But the chief persistently throwing, finally dropped one over the horns and left-sided Bill came in meekly and without a word of protest, and result of a game full of tense and exciting moments ultimately proved.

Zeke Stops Crackers.
Ezekiel, the mascot of the role of the rescuer of the tribemen, for after the Crackers had smote themselves into fuming, Zeke, the mascot, zanyhiser Ezekiel went forth and held the Crackers to five hits and one score in the ninth inning. The chief was throwing his lasso and the tribemen and Williams were making enough to score. The Crackers staked left-handed Bill to a four-run working margin in the first inning. With one out, Stow singled past second, Mayer singled through the box and Wingo singled past third, and the bases, Kauffman forced Wingo at second, Stow scored on the out. The Crackers scored their fourth in the first inning. In the second, left-handed Bill mowed down the Chick Crackers with a consistency that was growing monotonous. He struck out three in the first inning and three in the second, but in the second left-handed Bill walked two and hit one batsman. Left-handed Bill started the third by striking out three in the first time but he walked McMullan who advanced on Williams' out and scored when McMullan singled.

Bill Goes Up.
Left-handed Bill began to shy from the lariat in the fifth but was finally hoodwinked by the Crackers. He advanced on McMullan's out and it looked like left-handed Bill was going to lose himself but the chief kept throwing. Cliff Volckey singled to right, McMullan pitched to Williams and when Camp followed with a single, sending Volckey to third, the chief started to throw. Captain Hariden, Kauffman, Mayer and Graff yanked at the same time and the mascot of the tribemen, Bill, was yanked to the Crackers' bench in the fifth. When the Crackers' captain out-yanked the Chick chief, the tribemen were hanging and Bud greeted right-handed Phil Bedgood with a single, counting Volckey but McMullan scored on the out went out. The mascot of the tribemen, Bill, was yanked to the Crackers' bench in the fifth. When the Crackers' captain out-yanked the Chick chief, the tribemen were hanging and Bud greeted right-handed Phil Bedgood with a single, counting Volckey but McMullan scored on the out went out.

Right-handed Phil picked Bob Dowie in the ribs for the first time. Lohman bunted and Phil after hesitating threw over Kauffman's head at first. The Crackers' captain yanked again and Johnny Sugars, another left-handed, was trotted forth. The high fied out. Guyon but Bedgood scored on the out with the tying score. McMullan then singled through the box, the count two and three. Rinaldo Williams swung with might and main. The last sent him to the northeast corner of the field. The Crackers and the tribemen, McMullan and Williams, stood around with the lasso. The Crackers went out in order in the ninth and that's all there was to it.

Chicago, July 11.—Robbers, presumably after the safe receipts of the game between the White Sox and the Chicago White Sox, blew the safe at Comiskey park here last night. The loot of about $3,000 in cash and various receipts of various receipts of about $3,000 having been sent to a owner Comiskey. Tommy Gibbons has been mentioned as the next opponent, but official announcement of Rickard's selection will not be made until later. Nothing has been said as yet as to the financial guarantees. In the future, he said, he would do business only on a percentage basis.

THE REASONS FOR Stribling's Popularity.
We read where Tim O'Dowd, the featherweight, in tonight's semi-windup, is going after Stribling's scalp in case he is victorious. He read where Freddie Borden would like to clash with Stribling. We get letters from all over the country every week, proposing a match between Stribling and some promising featherweight. New people do not think that Stribling is anybody's easy gunning. Tim O'Dowd, who was stopped in less than a round by this same Stribling, certainly does not consider him anything soft.

Cliff Markle Is Sold to Reds; Will Leave Crackers in 10 Days

No Details of Trade Announced by Frank Nor Hermann—New Players Expected for Crackers.

Aurora, Ind. July 11.—(Special.)—It was announced late tonight at the conference between Charlie Frank, president of the Atlanta club, and the Southern league, and August Hermann, of the Cincinnati Reds, that Cliff Markle had been sold outright to the Cincinnati club. Markle was recommended to Cincinnati by Bill Riden, former Reds' catcher, who is now manager of the Atlanta club. Details of the field deal were not made public, but will be given out upon Mr. Hermann's return to Cincinnati tomorrow.

The Cincinnati management is endeavoring to strengthen the team and the Markle deal is one of three expected to be made this week. Expected to be traded to Cincinnati are pitcher Bob Geary, a deal with some eastern club is expected to be consummated within the next three or four days. Markle will report to the Reds in ten days.

LLOYD LEADS IN WESTERN

Chicago, July 11.—E. B. Lloyd, Chicago public links player, today set a record for the reconstructed course of the Westmoreland country club and led the field in the qualifying round of the amateur championship of the Western Golf association with 35-36-71, two under par for the 6,504-yard course. Lloyd was preceded by James Manion, of St. Louis, R. E.

Knepper, of Sioux City, Iowa, who made a 75. Twenty seven starters returned scores under 80, and fifty scored 81 or better. "Chick" Evans, defending the title for the fifth time, covered the links in 77 strokes.

Lloyd, who has not previously figured prominently in competition, played a remarkably even game. He scored par on every hole except six and one of these he made birdie. While on the other two was one over par. His drive was long and straight and his iron shots avoided the numerous bunkers with precision. Manion had the lead during the early play, scoring the first nine in 33 strokes, or three under par, but took forty on the second half. Knepper did not start so well, but finished the second nine three under par with a 34.

Nearly 200 players, many of them novices in national competition, played over the links today under a blistering sun, but over unusually green fairways which had withstood drought. The second qualifying round of 18 holes will be played tomorrow, the best 22 two scores qualifying for match play for the championship.

Herman Gets K. O.
London, July 11.—Pete Herman, of New Orleans, former world bantam champion, knocked out Jim Higgins, the English bantamweight champion, tonight in the eleventh round of what was to have been a twenty-round bout.

Hutchinson Returns.
New York, July 11.—Jock Hutchinson of the Glenview club, Chicago, who returned from Great Britain yesterday after winning the British open golf championship, and Tom Kerrigan, of Sweeney, were opposed to George Duncan, former British open champion, and Abe Mitchell, another British professional, in the first two rounds today of a 72-hole match.

BLACK SOX UNWORRIED

Chicago, July 11.—Members of the Chicago White Sox charged with throwing the 1919 world series to Cincinnati, and players said to have remained loyal to their club through the alleged sell-out, fraternized in Judge Hugo Friend's court today where the indicted men are on trial and, apparently, the games of 1919 were forgotten in the discussion of those of 1921.

The players intermingled, shaking hands and slapping each other on the back. The only mention of the baseball scandal was when some of the men now on the team wished the others good luck in their trial. The present team members in their trial, the alleged sell-out, fraternized in Judge Hugo Friend's court today where the indicted men are on trial and, apparently, the games of 1919 were forgotten in the discussion of those of 1921.

Manager Kid Gleason, Dick Kerr, Urban Faber, Roy Wilkerson, Eddie Collins and Harvey McClellan—had been called as defense witnesses, but as the jury had not been chosen they were excused for the time.

Swede Risberg, indicted shortly after the first trial, was called to the stand. "Hello, Kid!" he called out to Gleason. "How's the boy?"

"Pretty good, Swede," came back the manager as he shook hands with Risberg. "How's yourself?"

"And here's old Buck Weaver," added Gleason, slapping his former third baseman, now on trial. "Stacking up pretty good. Buck, how's it going?"

"Sure," began Weaver, but the other players began to tickle him. Weaver being very ticklish—and his remark was broken off.

The players intermingled of the present season a few minutes and then as the players started out. Happy Folsom, who had been indicted, called to the jury, "Hope you win the pennant, boys."

"Thanks, Happy," was the answer. "Good luck to you boys in your trial."

MITCHELL AND DUNCAN LEAD AMERICAN PROS
Pelham, N. Y., July 11.—George Duncan, British open champion last year, and Abe Mitchell, also of England, Monday led Jock Hutchinson, of Chicago, present titleholder, and Tom Kerrigan, Sweeney club professional and a member of the American club, in the first round of a 72-hole match at Pelham, 5 up at the end of a 56-hole contest over the new Pelham Country club's course.

The match will be continued tomorrow, there being a purse of $1,000 depending upon the 72-hole score. $100 is added each day for the best score.

Although all four landed from Europe only Sunday and the turf needs time to develop, all played in spectacular fashion. Their recoveries being especially remarkable. On the first 18 holes, the Englishmen were in the lead, but the Americans, in the afternoon, Duncan and Mitchell made 71 to 74 for Hutchinson and Kerrigan. For 35-36-71, two under par, no records for the course which was formally opened on Monday. James F. Barnes, Pelham president, said to have played with Hutchinson, but missed the steamer, so Kerrigan was substituted. The final match of 36 holes extended to 78, which will last throughout tomorrow.

Frank Ogg Enters Open Tourney
Gives Atlanta 3 Representatives
BY CLIFF WHEATLEY

Bobby Jones, Howard Beckett, Frank Ogg certain to play—Douglass Edgar, perhaps. That seems to be Atlanta's line-up for the open golf championship tournament, which starts Monday over the Columbia course at Washington.

Bobby Jones, Howard Beckett, etc. announced their entrance and it is expected that they will be in the line-up. Frank and Bob were shooting real golf, while the writer was doing his usual stunt of sending them when said shots were not buried in the rough.

Perhaps the fact that Frank has been giving Old Man Par a dickens of a time is responsible for his entrance and after playing that course time, the writer is convinced that if Frank can do anything like par at Ingleside, he'll come mighty near being the champion of the national open.

Ingleside is hard—there's no doubt about that. The sixth green right around 600 yards and dog-leg at that. The shortest one is a very long mashie for the longest driver and a good mid-iron for anyone else. The score of the day was from 400 to 550 yards, which gives the golfer that loves to clout every

Stribling's Problem LARGEST YET

New York, July 11.—A field of 232 of the leading professional and amateur golfers of the country, in addition to the famous English pros—George Duncan, Tom Kerrigan, and Abe Mitchell, have entered for the national open tournament which begins at the Columbia Country club, Washington, next Tuesday. The entry list, announced tonight, shows the second largest number of players ever listed for this fixture, the field falling a few below that which assembled at Toledo last season. More than a score of the more prominent amateur players will test their skill against the best of the professionals, including Charles "Chick" Evans, the national amateur champion; Bobby Jones, of England; Jesse Guifford, of Boston; Nelson M. Whitney, of New Orleans; J. S. Hooton, of Chicago; and a host of others.

In the professional ranks, the names of J. R. Hutchinson, recent winner of the British open championship; Jim Barnes, Walter Hagen, former holder of the title, and Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, the English stars, who take the place of the amateurs, are prominent. The field will open with a 72-hole qualifying round July 13 and 14. On the first day, half of the field will play an 18-hole round and the second day will see the other half of the entrants in a similar qualifying test. Those players with the 64 lowest stroke scores, as well as any tied for sixty-fourth place, will compete in the tournament proper, beginning July 21. The entire field of 232 will be in the field on July 21 and 22, the winner being the player with the lowest aggregate score.

NEW FINANCE PLAN ON COTTON EXPORT

New York, July 11.—The war finance corporation has adopted a new policy for financing the export shipments of cotton. Managing Director Eugene Meyer, Jr., announced today. Heretofore, he said, advances were to cotton exporters only on cotton actually exported under definite contracts for sale after conference with cotton men and bankers in Washington, New Orleans, Atlanta and New York. He said the corporation will now consider applications for the financing of exportations of cotton on any one of the following three plans:

1. For prompt shipment against deferred payments.
2. For future shipments within a reasonable time against either prompt or deferred payments after arrival in foreign countries.
3. For prompt shipments to warehouses in foreign distribution ports to be held there on account of American exporters and bankers for marketing out of warehouses.

A loan of five million dollars had been made to the Staple Cotton Cooperative Association of Memphis, which pledged one hundred thousand bales of long-staple cotton as security, he said, and agreed to export within one year sufficient to repay the full loan out of the proceeds of export sales. The cotton will be held in American warehouses until the time is favorable for export.

The corporation, he said, stands ready to assist other organizations, as well as cotton exporters and bankers, in the same way, provided the advances can be repaid on a sound business basis and the corporation may be definitely assured the advances would be repaid from export sales within one year.

Crew is Lauded As Crippled Ship Arrives in Port

New York, July 11.—Twenty-eight days after a large hole had been stove in her starboard bow when she struck an iceberg off the grand banks, Newfoundland, the three-masted Danish bark, Astrid, made port yesterday with a patch of wood and cement hastily rigged at sea, replacing the crushed timbers. Mariners regard the feat of the crew commanded by Captain A. Skov, as a nautical triumph. Many a larger vessel, they said, had gone down from a less serious wound suffered in the same manner.

The Astrid, a 731 ton vessel, had passed two big bergs, each 150 feet out of water, two hours before the collision, which occurred in a heavy fog at midnight.

"When the last berg loomed dead ahead so close we could not possibly avoid it," said Captain Skov, "there was nothing to do but try to make a dash for it. In the fog we could not see the top of the huge mountain of ice."

After the collision, the crew pumped out water ballast to elevate the damaged part of the ship and then built a case eight feet long and four feet wide, which they mated with cement. This they made fast with wooden hedges in the hole torn by the berg.

HALF OF LOAN MADE BY BRAZIL TO BE SPENT HERE

Rio de Janeiro, July 11.—The minister of finance, replying to a demand made upon government for information concerning the nation's fifty-million-dollar loan, half of which has already been negotiated in the United States, has explained why the loan was sought and to what purposes it will be put.

A greater part of the money raised in the United States, the deputy minister said, will remain in that country, to pay for repairs on the Brazilian warships Minas Geraes and Sao Paulo, for payment of railroad material, and for the purchase of irrigation machinery to be used in northern Brazil. The machinery and a vast amount of other supplies have all been bought from manufacturers in the United States.

18-Year-Old Girl Sets New Record in Parachute Jump

St. Paul, July 11.—Miss Phoebe J. Fairgrave, 18 years old, of this city, established what was said to be a new world's record for a parachute drop for women when she dropped fifteen thousand, two hundred feet, from an airplane at Curtiss flying field, near here, yesterday.

It took exactly twenty minutes from the time Miss Fairgrave leaped until she alighted safely in a wheat field.

"It was terrible," said Miss Fairgrave later. "I never want to try it again."

According to the story told by George, who is now confined to his bed and almost helpless, he was arrested in Texas and charged with killing Ed Konesick, a grocer, at the village of Hottentot, on October 1, 1884. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged, but three days before the execution was to take place, and after he had lain in prison and heard the carpenters building the scaffold on which he was to meet death, his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

After serving six years, according to George, Henry M. Sharp, of Pawsville, Texas, made a death-bed confession that he had killed Konesick while drunk. After this confession George was released and attempted to secure restitution for his sufferings, but it was only recently that he was able to interest
